I Didn't Know That about Ford! – Part 3

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Note: the citations presented in this article refer to Wikipedia article.

In February 2017, Ford Motor Co. acquired majority ownership of Argo AI, a self-driving car startup.[63]

In May 2017, Ford announced cuts to its global workforce amid efforts to address the company's declining share price and to improve profits. The company is targeting $3 billion in cost reduction and a nearly 10% reduction in the salaried workforce in Asia and North America to enhance earnings in 2018.[64][65] Jim Hackett was announced to replace Mark Fields as CEO of Ford Motor. Mr. Hackett most recently oversaw the formation of Ford Smart Mobility, a unit responsible for experimenting with car-sharing programs, self-driving ventures and other programs aimed at helping Ford better compete with Uber, Alphabet Inc. and other tech giants looking to edge in on the auto industry.[66][67]

On April 25, 2018, Ford announced that it would discontinue passenger cars in the North American market in the next four years, except for the Mustang, due to declining demand and profitability.[68] The Focus Active, a crossover SUV based on the newly unveiled fourth-generation Focus, was also intended to be marketed in the United States. Due to the vehicle being manufactured in China, Ford later announced that it would not release the Focus Active in the United States, due to tariffs imposed by the Trump administration on Chinese exports.[69][70]

In March 2020, the Detroit United Auto Workers union announced that after discussion with the leaders of General Motors, Ford, and Fiat Chrysler Automobiles, the carmakers would partially shut down factories on a "rotating" basis to mitigate the COVID-19 pandemic.[71] On March 24, representatives of Ford announced that production in the US, Canada, and Mexico would not resume on March 30 as originally planned, amid the further coronavirus pandemic spread.[72] In the first quarter of 2020, Ford's sales dropped by 15%, entailing the loss of $2 billion.[73]

With the change in the demand for the sport vehicles, on January 6, 2021, Ford reported a sales fall of 9.8% in the fourth quarter, selling 542,749 vehicles, compared to 601,862 in 2019.[74]

In April 2021, Ford said that it would provide COVID-19 vaccines for its employees, who were to obtain them at the company; at the beginning the vaccination program would be in southeast Michigan, Missouri and Ohio, but it was to be expanded later on to other locations.[75]

In March 2022, Ford announced that it would restructure the company into three separate divisions. Ford Model E is to focus on electric vehicles; Ford Blue is to focus on internal combustion vehicles; and the existing commercial division is to be rebranded as Ford Pro, to focus on vehicle distribution and service.[76][7]

In August 2022, Ford announced it planned layoffs of roughly 3,000 employees and contract workers, confirming earlier reporting. The cuts would mostly affect divisions in the US, Canada, and India, which Jim Farley said would allow the company to prepare for the future of electric, software-heavy vehicles.[77][78]

In February 2023, Ford announced that it was going to cut 3,800 jobs across Europe, with the job cuts mainly focusing on their German and British workforce. Ford will be cutting 2,300 jobs from Germany, 1,300 from the United Kingdom, and an additional 200 jobs in the rest of Europe, according to the head of Ford Germany, Martin Sander. The cuts will mainly be done to the company's engineers.[79]

Ford announced that their electric vehicle business had lost $3 billion before taxes over the past two years and will lose a similar amount in 2023 as the company looks to significantly invest in Electric Technology. The Ford Model E is expected to be profitable by 2026.[80]

In April 2023, United Kingdom ministers approved Ford's BlueCruise technology. Because of this assisted driving technology, Ford drivers can now legally take their hands off the wheel on certain roads. Its top speed is 129 km/h (80 mph). BlueCruise uses sensors and cameras to regulate the car's speed and to keep track of speed limits and road signs. It also monitors and keeps a safe distance from other vehicles. It also comes equipped with an eye-tracking system. If the driver stops looking at the road, then the car will gradually reduce its speed. This technology will initially be offered in Ford's 2023 model of the electric Mustang Mach-E SUV. According to Thatcham Research, an automotive research company, this model is not a self-driving car. It is classified as a level 2 or partial automation assistance system. This means that technology controls two or more driving aspects but still requires human driver control in cases of emergencies. The driver is still legally responsible for accidents. [81]

Strafford Route 66 Car Show – September 9, 2023

The Strafford Area Chamber of Commerce (member JJ Jennings) sponsored this year's SACC Route 66 Festival on September 9, 2023. The show ran from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm. There were food trucks this year and a fire engine with extended ladder. Car show awards were designed and produced by Mike Jennings.

For Classic Chevy Club members, the cruise started at Furniture Row parking lot at 1314 N Eastgate Avenue in Springfield at 8:30 am. We cruised to Strafford and parked in front of a covered pavilion with picnic tables that used to be a service station and other out buildings that were at one time a train depot. Thank you, JJ.

Steve Bisher, C.L. Carter, Bobby Goss, Jeanie & Bill Huyett, Pat Jennings, Walt Kruger, Diana & Charles Mahaffey, Johnny Cox, Wade & Gerri Mitchell, Gene Putman, Carl Schmachtenberger, Yvonna Davis & Dave Walters were in attendance on the first Saturday in September.

We were able to talk with friends of the club.

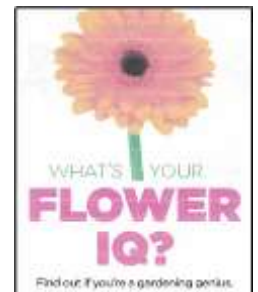

I am happy to report that the club turnout was robust for the club after dismal weather.

Ladies Luncheon - September 16, 2023

The Ladies Luncheon celebrated the birthdays of club members whose birthdays occurred in July, August, or September. The festivities took place on September 16, 2023, at Hemingway's in Bass Pro in Springfield.

The Last Days of Summer was the luncheon theme. Table decorations included Ocean Lighthouses, sea shells, fish netting, and themed candles.

The ladies were challenged with "What's Your Flower IQ?" to determine the group's gardening genius.

Attendees included Chris Berg, Marcia Bisher, Sandy Burch, Jean Deason, Melinda Owen, Norma Taube, and Yvonna Davis.

Cruise to Springhouse Village – October 14, 2023

The car club occasionally participates in community service activities that support our relationships with veterans', medical, and educational organizations. This normally includes cruise-ins to veteran facilities, assisted living residences, or local schools or churches. We accomplished an event on October 15, 2022. A group of members caravanned to Springhouse Village Retirement on East Farm Road 132 in Springfield to show off our classics.

This year the date of a repeat performance is October 14. Last year, As Melinda wrote in the event flier, "Let's take this opportunity to bring a smile to the faces of their residents by offering our classic cars for viewing. We will park our cars and give the residents the opportunity to come out and see our cars."

We had a great time talking to the residents. And we were treated very well by the staff.

More information will follow.

Classic Chevy Club Fall Foliage Tour – October 28, 2023

Instead of attending the out of state Fall Foliage Tour, we plan to have our own Fall Foliage Tour here. The tentative date is October 28.

Depending on the amount of foliage at the time, the date may need to be moved. Regardless of the date, we plan to end up at the Flat Creek Restaurant in Cape Fair.

CoxHealth Auxiliary Car Show – September 23, 2023

Twenty Classic Chevy Car Club members supported CoxHealth auxiliary initiatives by attending the September 23 car show. The money raised at this event will be used to support babies with SUD (substance user disorder). An information flier about SUD is available in photo gallery

Mike Jennings and Pat Jennings were presented with trophies for Best Paint and President's Choice, respectively. Brothers receiving trophies at the same show was certainly an anomaly.

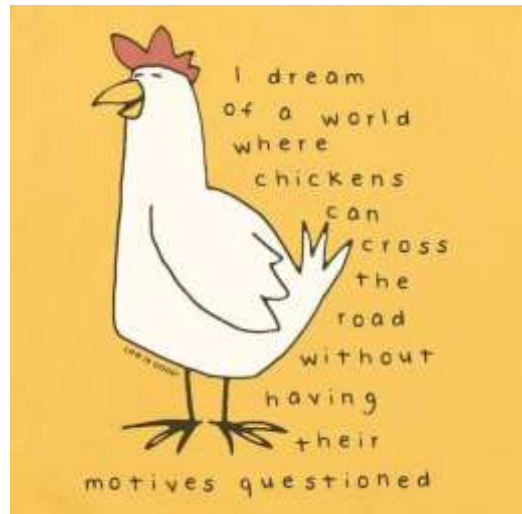

Member Brian Prose was at the car show as an employee of CoxHealth. Another anomaly?
